Presenter

Joseph Greene

Joe has been the Facilities Chair for the Historical Society of Glastonbury (HSG) since the 1970's. He and his committee have overseen for HSG the relocation and revitalization of the Welles Chapman Tavern into a rental property, dismantling and reconstruction of the Eastbury barn, Moseley Tavern Privy, and the construction of a reproduction smoke house, wood shed and well head at the Welles Shipman Ward house (WSW) among many other projects relating to HSG's properties. He and the Facilities Committee's recent accomplishment is the newly reconstructed Tobacco Shed at WSW. His Talk on May 28 will focus on the process of finding the Tobacco Shed, taking it down and reconstructing it.

Out Going President
(Jim Bennett)

I would like to thank our out-going president Gil Tyler for an excellent presidency. He was a hands-on president, who brought new insight into the workings of the Society. His efforts made sure that the Society continued to move smoothly in the face of hard economic time, and during a major expansion of the Society's facilities in the form of the Tobacco Shed. Gil's presidency and vice presidency oversaw growth in membership and development with a dynamic vision for the future. He was always available with his good counsel and unique insight. The Society was blessed to have Gil as president for the past two years. Thank you Gil for a job well done!

Tobacco Shed Education Center-Museum

Both The Hartford Foundation for Public Giving and The Connecticut State Historic Restoration Fund have paid $99,300. All bills and loans have been paid.

During 2013, the Curatorial Department will plan for the implementation and development of displays and activities for the Shed with help from Education, Facilities and Glastonbury’s Social Studies Curriculum Dept.

I would like to thank all those who made in-kind donations, cash donations or loans, without which this project would never have been possible.

Dinner Lecture Series

The date of the first Dinner Lecture is June 9. There was an incorrect cut & paste in the invitation. It has not been moved to July.

There are still reservations available for both the Dinner Lectures!

The Sunday, June 9 Dinner Lecture will be at the beautiful home of Jane and Brian Fox known as the Hale-Goodrich House at 2016 Main St., built in the French Second Empire style for Frances Hale in 1876, at the height of the Victorian age.

The Sunday, Sept. 8 Dinner Lecture will be at the stunning home of Pat & Tom Yandow, 1099 Main St. This c. 1840 house has seen many grand changes in the past few years, more than doubling its size. Join us for a tour of this beautiful home and learn about the history of the house and surrounding area.

Susan Goodrich Motycka will be the speaker at both Dinners. Parking will be directed the day of the event.

Farm Festival

The Farm Festival canceled for 2012 because of the ongoing construction of the Shed, will be returning September 15, 2013. This year it will be more than just a celebration of Glastonbury's history and agriculture, but also a celebration and dedication of the newly reconstructed Tobacco Shed. Anyone wanting to volunteer to help plan this celebration please call Jim at the Museum 860-633-6890.

Supper at the Welles Tavern

On Saturday, March 23, Joseph and Susannah Welles, with the very able help of Cynthia (Cynthia Parczyk) opened the doors of the Welles Hotel for one more evening, behind a most attractive tavern sign painted by Henry von Wodtke. Many residents of Glastenbury stepped back into 1796 to enjoy a supper menu of Ham, Hot Slaw, Apple Pie (baked by Janet von Wodtke and June Blacksten), Potato & Flour Bread, Rice Bread, Cheese, and butter, all enjoyed with a glass of sparkling cydur. The food consumed was seasonal foods that would have been available in March, stored through the winter. A post rider (Dave Loda) arrived on horseback with the mail that Mr. Welles delivered to several recipients. Mr. and Mrs. Welles were additionally pleased to entertain Mr. David Humphreys, Minister Resident to the Country of Portugal (Dave Loda), who arrived on his horse, played by Huckleberry Finn McCool. (Both of these gentlemen did extremely well in their dual roles.) Mr. Humphreys was enroute to Derby, which is his home, to visit family. He was very cordial and spoke of his travels and things he had seen.

As the evening progressed, Joseph and Emma Gregory (Victor and Claire Gregoire) arrived from Newtown. The Gregorys almost did not stay the night at the hotel. Mr. Gregory found the price of 1 shilling each person too expensive but as the coach had already left, Mrs. Gregory was able to convince him to stay.

Mr. Gregory and his wife had found it necessary to leave Newtown because of their Tory sympathies, which were very strong. Every time Mr. Humphreys spoke of our recent Revolutionary War, Mr. Gregory loudly mumbled, "Civil War!" If Mr. Humphreys spoke of our new states, Mr. Gregory countered, "Colonies!"

In the end, Madeira was passed for toasts which were led by Mr. Humphreys, and a good time was had by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Welles look forward to your company next year when they once again open their tavern for an evening.

On Sunday, April 14, Welles Shipman Ward was opened for Handcraft Day. Anne O'Connor was greeter. Kathleen Plucker and Mary Vetreno were ready to give knitting lessons to anyone who wished, either right- or left-handed. Elizabeth O'Brien cut silhouettes in the kitchen bedroom. Elizabeth is not a member of the Historical Society. She works for Nathan Hale Homestead and Webb-Deane-Stevens. She comes to cut silhouettes for us on occasion. Georgess Borrow had finger knitting in the kitchen for young people to try. Children who made something from her brightly colored yard could bring their creation home. Janet von Wodtke demonstrated tatting.

Upstairs, Jane Domke demonstrated hand sewing. Eva Bowden demonstrated counted cross stitch. She had a young woman, about 7, who asked for a lesson and Eva obliged. Cheri Collins demonstrated drop spindle, the predecessor to spinning wheels. She had a few students who wished to try it. Claire Gregoire had a crewel embroidery workshop and Linda Oakley had a quilting workshop. I wove in the loom room.

We made an interesting discovery. After looking for someone to demonstrate both right- and left-handed knitting, and asking a lot of veteran knitters, we found that there is no right- or left-handed knitting. Everyone knits from their left needle onto their right.

Once again, we had a small turn-out, although we did have a few more visitors than previous years. The number of visitors has continued to crawl upward since I began as Program Coordinator but the turnout for this event is always rather disappointing. Welles Shipman Ward is your museum. As a member of the Historical Society of Glastonbury, you have stock in it. What activity would you like to see in April? What would get you to bring your family for part of an afternoon? It must relate to something that was an 18th century activity, it must be able to be contained in our House, barns, and property, and it must not endanger the property, docents, or visitors. Any ideas? Send them forward. We'd love to hear them!

On Tuesday, April 14, we had our fourth Kids in Jerusha's Kitchen. Jean Bartlett and I got to the House early to get the fire started and ready the utensils and dishes for Tuesday's lunch. We had Macaroni with Parmesan Cheese and green beans, with Birds Nest Pudding for dessert and sparkling cider to drink. Our beans were fresh and not salted, our cheese sharp Parmesan that mimicked colonial cheese that had aged through the winter, and our cider sparkled as colonial cider did but had no alcohol in it. (The only way to preserve cider in colonial times was to allow it to ferment.) However, our lunch was comprised of dishes that might have been enjoyed by a family in the 18th century. We even made our own macaroni. Like Jerusha, we did not use a pasta machine. We hand rolled it with rolling pins, then cut it into narrow strips with a knife. We had 6 marvelous cooks, 4 girls and 2 boys, all of whom had a wonderful time, and the lunch was delicious.

Walk-Dinner Tours

The Walk-Dinner Tour April 29 down the south side of Roaring Brook on the Nature Conservancy path was a big success. Over 50 walkers enjoyed the historic stroll on a beautiful spring day looking at the mill sites where some of Glastonbury's most important mills existed.

The second walk May 6 featuring the industrial history of Historic South Glastonbury center was also a wonderful occasion with over 44 walkers moving down Main Street to High Street, to the feldspar mill and grist mill, and down Water St. The Luby family whose home is next to the Feldspar mill, opened their property to us, while their children had a lemonade stand for thirsty hikers. This tour explored the early industry of the area, featuring mill sites, mill worker's homes, tap rooms, and small businesses.

Most walkers joined Brian Chiffer, Sue Motycka and Anne O'Connor after the walks for a delicious dinner at South Tavern where a slide show was presented and various attendees spoke, including Howard Horton who grew up and still lives in Nayaug. I would like to thank Brian, Sue and Anne for developing and presenting these walks, the Lubys for sharing their beautiful property, all those contributed to the discussion such as Howard Horton, Sandy Allen and South Tavern for a delicious dinner. If you missed the walks this year, please join us next year!

Nutmeg Pastelists at the Museum on the Green

The Nutmeg Pastelists comprised of artists Susan Bosworth, Patricia Bullock, Helen Davis, Linda Gotta, Lynda Regina and Patricia Trapp put on a fantastic show at the Museum on the Green during the week of May 5. An educational presentation Thursday of their techniques drew a lot of people. The opening reception Sunday, May 5 was a fun occasion with delicious food and drink, while we admired their art. I would like to thank Jane Fox our new President who helped organize the event. Please join us again next year when HSG celebrates Glastonbury's artists at the Museum.

40th Annual Antiques Show

Demonstrations, tours, seminars, food, entertainment and more! Unveiling of the new Connecticut Barns Trail. The Connecticut Trust for Historic Preservation has been documenting historic barns in Connecticut for nine years. Its database at www.connecticutbarns.org holds information on over 8,400 barns in the state. Hundreds of community volunteers helped identify barns in their communities. Two thousand of those identified were included in the state’s Historic Resource Inventory in 2010 and, as of late 2013, two hundred of the most distinctive barns will be listed on the State Register of Historic Places. All this barn research led the Trust to offer small barns grants for building stabilization and to develop a Connecticut Barns Trail. Our Celebration of Barns signifies the end of the major research on barns; the grants and the trail signify our commitment to continue to advocate for protecting and preserving Connecticut’s precious historic asset, the barn.

Funding for Historic Barns of Connecticut has come from the State Historic Preservation Office, Department of Economic and Community Development.
